FORTY-SIXTH CONGRESS.

DAILY PROCEEDINGS OF THE SENATE AND HOUSE.

Adoption and Rejection of Bills and Resolutions—A Change of Treaty Brewing—Peace in the Ranks.

SENATE.

WASHIAGTON, Feb. 3.—The Senate Finance Committee this morning decided to report adversely on the House bill relative to the coinage and coin and bullion certificates commonly known as the Warner silver bill.

Bayard, from the Finance Committee reported the Warner silver bill adversely. Beck stated the report was not unanimous and the minority hoped to be heard in regard to the bill at some future time. Placed on the calendar.

Senator Teller submitted a resolution directing the Secretary of the Interior to communicate to the Senate the general line of location of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company and what change had been made by said company in their general line of location up to date; also a statement of lands withdrawn from the settlements in favor of said company under its several locations and to what extent such several changes of location have effected the rights of settlers. Adopted.

Sundry private petitions and memorials were presented and referred, after which Mr. Maxey submitted a resolution instructing the Committee on Military affairs to consider the expediency of legislation to provide for the retirement of non-commissioned officers, with suitable pay and allowances, after thirty years of meritorious services. Adopted.

The Senate then took up and passed bills for the relief of U. Boyden, Salisbury, N. C.

The Vice President laid before the Senate a resolution passed by the House with regard to the death of the Hon. Rush Clark, of Iowa. After tributes to the memory of the deceased by several Senators, the Senate adopted the resolution as a mark of respect. Adjourned.

HOUSE.

On motion of Mr. Frost, of Missouri, privileges of the floor were granted to Messrs. Purnell and Dillon.

Mr. Davis, of California, offered a resolution which was adopted, directing the committee on agriculture to inquire into the most feasible method of extending the benefits of the agricultural bureau over that portion of the United States west of one hundredth meridian.

Mr. Williams, of Kentucky, offered a resolution calling on the President for information as to extending negotiations for a change of treaty between the government of China and the United States; referred.

Mr. Shallenborger, of Pennsylvania, from the committee on public buildings and grounds, reported a resolution calling on the Supervising Architect of the Treasury Department for information as to the character of all the public buildings now in course of construction, or which may have been completed within the past three years, the cost of same, and reasons why such buildings have cost more than the amount limited by law; adopted.

Mr. Cox, of New York, introduced a bill, providing for the forfeiture of public lands granted to the Railroad and Telegraph Companies in cases where grantees have complied with the condition of grants.

The House then took up and passed the jury service bill which provides that no person shall serve as juror in any United States Court for more than three weeks in any one year except to finish the trial of cases begun before the expiration of such term of service.

Mr. Culbertson, of Texas, from the judiciary committee, reported a bill relative to the jurisdiction of the United States Circuit Courts and the removal of cases thereto from State Courts, but pending its consideration the morning hour expired and it went over without action.

The House then went into a Committee of the Whole and resumed debate upon the revision of the rules, the subject under consideration being the distribution of appropriation bills among the committees.

On motion of Mr. Aiken, of South Carolina, Rule eleven was so amended as to give the committee on Agriculture jurisdiction over appropriations for the agricultural department.

Mr Browne, of Indiana, moved to amend clause nine of the rule so as to give the committee on Military Affairs jurisdiction over the appropriations for the support of the army.

After a long debate the amendment was rejected by a vota of 107 to 93. The committee then rose and the House adjourned.

North Carolina Republicans and the National Convention.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—A telegram received here to-night from Colonel Thomas Keogh, secretary of the Republican National Committee, says that so much dissatisfaction is felt among respectable North Carolina Republicans over the appointment only of Sherman men for the National Convention by the State Central Committee recently, that a convention will soon be called in the State at which other delegates will be appointed. Much fault is found, the telegram says, with the State Committee for assuming to appoint delegates without calling a convention, and it intimates that the committee will be summarily unhorsed for its officiousness.

Fire in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 3.—Two buildings of John A. Ebert, furniture manufacturer, Edward street, near Hancock, were destroyed by fire last night. Loss $60,000; no insurance.

On the 2d a fire occurred at the Key Stone flour mill of Leopard Stand, Girard avenue. Loss $20,000.

Stone Cutters' Strike.

MEMPHIS, Feb. 3.—Sixty stone cutters, employed on the Custom House, struck yesterday owing to a disagreement regarding wages and the discharge of their foreman.

Destructive Fire in New York.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—The extensive furniture factory of George C. Flint & Co., West 19th street, was burned out by an incendiary fire last night. Loss $100,000; partly covered by insurance. Flint & Co. lose $90,000.

Vessel Ashore.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—The brig Castalia, from Galveston, with a cargo of cotton went ashore this morning opposite the highlands. The crew were safely landed.

Heavy Snow Storm.

NASHVILLE, Feb. 3.—Snow began to fall at 10 this morning and still continues. It is now eight or ten inches deep and is the heaviest snow storm experienced for years in this locality.

Affairs in Alaska.

The steamer California has arrived at San Francisco from Sitka. Collector Ball is a passenger, en route to Washington in response to a telegram from Secretary Sherman on the petition of citizens asking for some one direct from Alaska to represent their needs in the legislation proposed this winter. The California found a war raging at Wrangle between the Hoochenoo and the Stickeeen Indians, and the Hoochenoos were getting the worst of it. Deputy Collector Crittenden, with about eighty whites, had enforced a temporary truce.

Another Letter from the Swift Creek Farmer.

Correspondence of the News.

SWIFT CREEK, Feb. 2.—Your correspondent has not had time to think over his thoughts before we were due at the News office. You will have to take them haram-scaram, and be blessedly glad to get them, with the prospect of such weather. You well know that the flower land, and wheat, oats, etc., are being benefitted in their several conditions; and the negro, who always buys good clothing, blankets, and has a natural tendency to provide for himself, is charmingly situated by a fire from which you can't get him.

Your correspondent has no notice of fighting Billy goats in the coming campaign, and would be pleased to see them all "draw straws" to know which Democrat should have office.

Politics disturbs a country man's life, and candidates eating on him is a new science. Do you see the agricultural interest wants all the offices, pay and emoluments thereto appertaining? We are right, we have got the "bone and sinew of the land," even if they have the brains, and brains have always been thought a combination of theoretical conclusions.

Colonel Stephenson says he can make apple brandy out of his overplus of dried ones, if he needs them in the coming campaign. I think he is a little right.

Way down in Tarboro, Dossey Battle tells about sitting in "summer suns," but if it looks so up here I'll always believe he tells the truth.

The snow has not stopped old Ned from currying the hogs, which is a pastime enjoyable.

There are turns made in the world faster than the bed-post man changes the solid wood into a shape which never benefits its much.

Hickory nut trees are not quite full, but geese are always hatching.

The News From Halifax.

Correspondence of the News.

HALIFAX, Jan. 31.—During the past three or four days our town has been enlivened by the crowd attending the magistrates courts.

On Wednesday, Mr. W. A. Daniel, of Weldon, for the convenience of the witnesses, came here and after calling Dr. John O'Brien to sit with him in the hearing of the case, proceeded to take evidence in the case against Pulley and Dick Lassiter for the larceny of cotton. This case took up all of Wednesday.

Friday morning the case of larceny against Lewis Taylor and Dick Lassiter was called. Messrs. Day & Zollicoffer, with Solicitor Collins, for the State; Messrs. Mullen & Moore, and Spier Whitaker for the defendants. This case continued through the day and night until 4 o'clock this morning the justices' decided to put the defendants under a bond of $250.00, each.

The case against the same defendants for the burning of Mr. Purnell's house, with the same counsel for the State and defendants, was then taken up and the counsel agreeing not to make any speeches on either side the case has just closed to-night. The defendants will be committed to jail to await their trial by a jury in a higher court.

The Court House has been crowded during the whole trial, we suppose there is about twenty-five witnesses, the evidence covers twenty-nine pages of fools-cap.

During the closing evidence quite a scene was enacted. One of the defendants becoming excited, began shouting in a violent manner, jumping up and falling down, rolling over and groaning, all the while declaring that he was happy and that his Lord was with him. The justices' decided that they must go to jail.

Our Inferior Court begins the third Monday in February.

Ex-Sheriff Larkin has not been heard of since the murder of Hicks, which it is supposed Larkin took a part in.

Yours truly, H.

FASHION NOTES.

Spanish lace is now the most popular of all varieties for the toilet, in both black and white.

Medium and dark shades of kid gloves are more worn for full dress than for many seasons past.

Changeable silks are in great demand for the strings of bonnets, are very suitable for this purpose.

Black kid gloves are the most popular for dress occasions, because they make the hand look small and shapely.

Feather turbans grow in popularity. Peacock blue is a favorite shade, though some gray ones, made of owls feathers, are very handsome.

Large collars appear on all handsome dresses for children, and round shapes are taking the place of square ones.

Long lace jabots, extending below the point of the corsage, and buttoned up within the bodies and at the waist line, and cropping above and below that point, are worn with dressy toilets in the evening.

Carriage and reception dresses are now made of high colors are the richest materials. The former are generally of walking length.

Colored fringes, like those in black, are no longer plain and unmixed, but are formed into business and ornaments, which hang from an inconspicuous foundation, independent of each other.

Hankerchiefs finished on the edge with inch and a half borders of foulard silks in fancy grounds, with little bouquets of several colors, are made into pretty breakfast caps.

In the spring the polonaise will be generally revived. Its composition will be somewhat changed, but it will be the polonaise again. Princesse dresses will be worn also, but with certain changes.

All white toilets are worn, not only at balls, but to grand dinners and evening receptions, when there is no dancing. White is becoming to all young looking faces.

Large pins have again come into use, and a favorite mode of arranging the back hair is to twist the same into a double ring and fasten it with two or more large gold headed pins.

Cloth of gold is the imposing name given to a new material which is used to trim dresses. The collars and cuffs are made of it, and it is introduced into many other parts of the toilet.

A walking boot for ladies has made its appearance, which laces over the instep like a gentleman's shoe, instead of buttoning at the side. It has a broad sole and low heel.

Pretty trimming for dresses is bouquet ribbon loops. These are made of twelve loops of different colored, inch wide satin ribbon, each loop one and a half inches deep. They are made up close together, similar to a bouquet of flowers.

A THIRD TERM BLOW.

VIEWS OF INFLUENTIAL PHILADELPHIANS ON THE SUBJECT.

The Latest Version of that Celebrated Letter of Withdrawal of General Grant.

Philadelphia Record, 2d.

About the time General Grant was in this city, last December, there was considerable talk that he would again be foisted upon the Republican party as a candidate for the Presidency. Immediately several well-known and influential gentlemen, who have always been identified with the Republican party, but who have an independent way of thinking, began to feel the pulse of their friends to learn how they stood on the third-term question. The result was the ascertainment of a sentiment decidedly opposed to any more Grantism. The matter assumed such shape that a half dozen of these gentlemen determined to speak to the public at large, not only in Philadelphia and Pennsylvania, but of the whole country. An organization was effected, and an address was drawn up. The exact contents of the paper are not to be made public until to-morrow, when the documents will be given to the world. This much is known, however, that the circular contains the views of some of the most influential gentlemen of this city, who are against a third term. Although the possible candidates are not mentioned by name, yet this paper protests against the selection of a man who would violate the unwritten law of the country, or a man who would use the power of his office to secure his selection as a standard bearer.

Many of the gentlemen whose names are appended to the circular were either present at or in sympathy with that famous Fifth-Avenue conference in 1876, when the indignant Republicans of the country raised their voices against corruption in the party.

GRANT'S LETTER OF WITHDRAWAL.

Relative to the statement which appeared last week to the effect that there was a letter from General Grant in which he would withdraw from the contest as a Presidential aspirant before the meeting of the Pennsylvania Convention, Mr. Murat Halstead, of the Cincinnati Commercial, now comes to the front and says he heard the story, and that it came indirectly from Mr. A. E. Borie. While in Washington he repeated it, and it spread.

So much for that part of the story. Now a gentleman who is well known here makes the assertion that there is such a letter in existence. He says that when General Grant reached San Francisco, Secretary Sherman received a letter from him in which the General stated that he would not again be a candidate for Chief Magistrate, as he desired to get out of politics. The ovations which were given Grant all over the country, and the soft words which ill-advised friends whispered into his ear, however, caused him to change his mind. When Secretary Sherman met the General in this city they had a conference for about an hour, and during that time the Secretary was apprised of the fact that General Grant would be a candidate if the people demanded it. The wily Sherman put this back of his ear and determined to keep the letter, as it might come of use in the future. If it should be brought to light between now and June, on some auspicious occasion when it would further Mr. Sherman's plans, it would create no surprise. There is one thing certain, the Secretary will not allow it to become useless.

Digest of Supreme Court Decisions. Spring Term, 1880.

[Reported for the NEWS by Walter Clark Esq., Attorney at-Law.

13. BY SMITH, C. J. Jones v. Cohen, from Craven.

A deed can be collaterally impeached for the unsoundness of mind, or infancy of a feme covert at the time of her privy examination taken. A privy examination has not the effect of a "fine and recovery." Woodhouse v. Gorrell, 66 N. C. 82 and Wright v. Player, 72 N. C. 94, in that regard overruled.

In ejectment any deed produced as a link in the chain of title may be attacked and invalidated by showing incapacity in the maker and this without setting out in the pleadings the nature of the objection. Where a deed is set up in the answer, objection to invalidate it can be taken at the trial without filing a replication. One tenant in common can not sue another for taking possession of property to which each has the same and equal right, unless there is some act of ouster or exclusion, and the only remedy is for an account and division of the profits. When a feme grantor elects to avoid her deed for infancy, the grantee is entitled to the return of the purchase money he has paid. The act of 1848 (Rev. Code, ch. 56, sec. 1) did not deprive the husband of his estate by the courtesy initiate or consummate in his wife's estate, nor take away his right to the rents and profits during coverture.

14. BY SMITH, C. J. State v. Yearby, from Wake.

A butcher who purchases live animals suitable for food, and, after slaughtering and cutting them up, sells in pieces at his stall, is not indictable for not taking out a license to practice the profession of "a butcher" under the Revenue Act of 1879. He does not buy and sell the same article and in the same condition as a mere trader.

15. BY SMITH, C. J. Hettrick v. Page, from Chowan.

Where the essential averments in the complaint setting out the equitable claims to an injunction are not controverted in the answer there is no error in refusing to submit an issue to a jury. On an appeal from an interlocutory order, vacating a restraining order or granting an injunction till the hearing, the Supreme Court re-examines the evidence and determines the facts, as well as the law arising thereon. The law in regard to fishing rights as summarized in Skinner v. Hettrick, 73 N. C. 53, is approved. The riparian owner has not only a right to remove the interfering stakes of the pod nets while his seine fishery is in actual use, but also to remove them when needed to put his fishery in operation or in making immediate preparation to that end.

16. BY SMITH, C. J. State v. Johnson, from Wake.

Evidence is not admissable to prove an independent collateral matter, affecting the credit of a witness, by an enquiry not addressed to him but by the testimony of another person. Here a State's witness in a prosecution for larceny having admitted that he staid a certain night at a certain woman's house, it is not admissable to show by another witness that the woman was a loose character. The impeached witness might have been asked that question and his answer would have been conclusive and irrebutable.

17. BY ASHE, J. State v. Outerbridge from Bertie.

It is not a disqualification for a tales juror in the Superior Court to have sat within two years previously on a petty or grand jury of the Inferior Court. To make the disqualification the juror must have sat on a petty or grand jury of the same court within two years. Evidence in a murder trial that a bullet found in the body of the decease fitted a pair of bullet moulds found on the person of the prisoner soon after the homicide, there being other circumstantial evidence, is properly admitted as a link in the chain. An objection that it is not shown in evidence that the homicide was committed in the county set out in the indictment is waived (since the act of 1874,) unless taken advantage of by a plea in abatement.

18. BY ASHE, J. State v. Holmes, from New Hanover.

State v. Phifer, 65 N. C., 321, is approved as giving the correct construction of the statute o false pretences sec. 67, chap. 32, Bat. Rev. A mere falsehood is not indictable. There must be a false representation of an existing fact made for the purpose of inducing the prosecutor to part with his property. A statement by one selling a horse that he is sound, when he was unsound, and the seller knew it, is not indictable.

19. BY ASHE, J. State v. Taylor, from Wake.

On an indictment for an affray, it appearing in evidence that one of the defendants was at the door of the other's house reaching in the door and cutting with a razor and the other defendant was striking at him with a staff, it was error in the court to refuse an instruction asked by the jury as to the amount of force which might lawfully be used to eject an intruder from one's house, and to charge instead that if the jury believed the witness, both parties were guilty. The jury might have been warranted in coming to the conclusion that the purpose was to expel an intruder as the owner of the house had a right to do.

20. BY ASHE, J. State v. Jones, from Wake.

The offences of larceny and of receiving stolen goods, knowing them to be stolen, can be joined in the same bill. Even if it were conceded for the argument, that conviction for the latter offence is not a disqualification for suffrage, the disqualification is not imposed by the sentence of the court, but is merely a consequence of it. There is no difference, in the punishment the court can adjudge, as to the two offences.

21. BY DILLARD, J. White v. Clark, from Halifax.

It is the duty of an appellant to see that the case made out by the judge fully and distinctly sets forth his exceptions and the grounds thereof. It is not competent for him on the trial in this court to assign an error in the Judge's charge, though apparent on the face of the record and committed to his detriment.

22. BY DILLARD, J. Mason v Pelletier, from Carteret.

An act done or carried on, though not tainted with illegality or fraud, if in ignorance or mistake of facts material to its operation, will be set aside in a court of equity. Where counsel read a portion of a previous case to the jury when an objection he was stopped by the judge who cautioned the jury properly there is no error. If there was any special damage, it was waived by not setting it out in the case on appeal so as to point it out that this court could judge of it.

23. BY DILLARD, J. State v. Utley. from Wake.

An indictment for an attempt to steal need not specify or describe any particular article intended and attempted to be stolen. An allegation of an attempt with a general intent to steal is sufficient.

24. BY DILLARD. Farmer v. Daniel, from Wilson county.

Where a purchaser of land sold by order of a court of equity, under a petition for partition, paid into the office of the Clerk and Master the purchase money and the court of equity on the report of the Master ordered title to be made but in fact a deed was never executed, one who succeeds to the equitable title of such purchaser by a chain of mesne conveyances can, under the present system, set it up and defeat the action of the holder of the legal title. Where a "case agreed" sets out the facts and leaves the legal inferences to be drawn by the court, the court will treat the defences set up by the "case agreed" as authorized by the pleadings. Where the purchase money so paid in by the purchaser was paid over by the clerk to a feme covert without privy examination, it cannot affect the purchaser's title. Where, after payment of purchase money and order for title, the purchaser and those under him enter and remain in possession, no lapse of time will raise a presumption of the abandonment of the equitable title by reason of a failure to obtain the deed.

THE NEW YORK OBELISK.

Captain Gorringe's Testimony to the Excellence of Ancient Iron.

Correspondence of the World.

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, January 10.—After some trouble with the timbers to be used in blocking, the obelisk was secured on the blocking and the work of bringing it down to the sea-level is gradually and successfully going on.

It is to-day within twelve feet of the level from which it will be launched, and there it must remain until the foundations of the constructions and of the pedestal have all been cleared away. To remove the foundations of the constructions has been as great a piece of work as it must have been to construct them. To deal with the pedestal is also a very serious matter. It is formed of white granite blocks weighing from four to five and a half tons each. The two upper steps are hewn out of single pieces of white granite, and there are six pieces in all.

Inclosed in these are three other blocks, two of white granite and one of red granite, the whole bound together with iron or steel "dogs" with a lead rim around exactly similar to those with which similar structures are secured to-day. The iron is in pefect preservation, and so far as I can judge it is better than any iron we make to-day, for while it is as hard as steel it is as ductile as the sofest wrought iron. There can be no doubt as to the age of the iron, for the "dogs" must have been put into position before the pedestal was placed on the foundation. Beneath the blocks above mentioned are others inclosed by and secured for the lower step in the same manner. The whole structure is a worthy foundation for what rested on it, and, as it would really be impossible to improve on any part of it, I am removing everything with great care, and intend to transport the pieces and replace them exactly as I found them. The white granite is itself a curiosity. It is a kind of granite with which I am not familiar. Of course the removal and preservation intact of such heavy pieces will require time and close personal care and supervision.

Very truly yours,
H. H. GORRINGE.

Mr. J. L. Stone, the Sewing Machine, Piano and Organ man, left this morning for New York and other Northern cities, and will return in about two weeks. Those anticipating buying Pianos or Organs can save from $50.00 to $100.00 by waiting until he returns, as he will be prepared to furnish any instrument made in the United States.

HOW OLD IS OUR EARTH?

AND WHEN DID THE ANIMAL MAN BEGIN HIS EXISTENCE?

A Suggestion that the New World is Really the Old World--The Glacial Epoch 240,000 Years Ago.

New York Star Feb. 2.

Investigation of the problem of the existence of man on the American continent seems to be at least one branch of the human race had its origin here, if indeed, the whole family had not its genesis in the Western world. The general outline of the proposition is that America rose first above the primeval waters of creation, and that it was already old, clothed with forests and inhabited by animals, long before there was anything of Europe or Asia, except some mountain peaks, barren and rock-clad, standing like islands in the ocean. Upon this point Agassiz, in the first paper of his volume of "Geological Sketches," grows eloquent in his enthusiasm and scientific demonstrations.

This question of physical geography is too intimately connected with the genesis of flora and fauna to be neglected, in discussing the problem of man's existence; but until recently it was not taken into account. Now and then some speculative philosopher or keen thinker has suggested the immeasurable antiquity of the human race; but the ignorance of the people, the prejudice of education, and the barrier of so-called revelation, have stopped the theories at their fountain head.

Evidences of the extreme antiquity of man have existed for ages in plain sight, have been seen and wondered at; but the observers have squared evidence with prejudice, instead of casting prejudice to the winds and founding belief upon fact and judgment.

The predominance and sway of early teaching influence I even such observers and investigators as Brasseur de Bourburg, Dupaix, Squier, Boturini, Gallatin and Stephens, whose conclusions are sadly tinctured with the endeavor to reconcile truth with antagonistic dogma. Lewis Morgan, J. H. Baldwin and ex-President Harrison are among the few students and inductive thinkers who cut loose from prejudice and gave to reason the task which the others delegated to awe and superstition.

To the judicial mind there can be nothing clearer than that America is really, in point of time, the Old World—the first fitted for life, and, therefore, the first so occupied. Recent discoveries point to the fact that there was a race of men, highly civilized, organized into communities, using letters, skilled in arts, while yet the man of Europe herded with the cave bear, as much the animal and as little cultured as his four-footed companion. The conditions are such that no other conclusion can be reached; indeed, so favorable and demonstrative are they that many scientists, whose opinions are entitled to great weight, hold that the European of the remote age was the unprogressive descendant of the same stock which here developed into such magnificence of knowledge and achievement. However that may be, there is a general agreement among archæologists that the race of man on this continent inconceivably antedates the Adamic period of 6,000 years before Christ.

On this particular branch of the subject Mr. George Dudley Lawson of this city, who has devoted much time and study to the problem of the American aborigines (not the red Indian or his progenitor), has prepared a paper entitled "American Civilization, B. C. 20,000," which will appear in an early number of the Popular Science Monthly. In that article the author makes the startling proposition that man indubitably existed on the continent of America prior to 240,000 years ago, occupying the regions between the chain of the great lakes and the Arctic circle; but for reasons presently to be noted, no trace of that occupation could possibly have been left to be discovered now, except it may be in the caves of the Assiniboine and Saskatchewan region. At that remote date began the last great glacial epoch, during which a glacier crept down from the North Pole to the parallel of 40 degrees north—a mass of ice more than twelve miles thick at the pole and a mile thick in the latitude of New York. Before that glacier, man and all animals capable of migration went southward; the slow-moving ice plowed the whole face of the country, denuding it of soil and every vestige of pre-existent life, down to the very bed rock, and swept its masses of debris into the sea into which the glaciers projected. Over the vast plain the north wind blew continuously, carrying its freezing touch almost to the equator, and rendering what is now the North Torrid Zone milder and more equable than the climate in any portion of the present Temperate Zone. The Gulf Stream flowed no further north than Cape St. Roque, in South America, and in the regions of Yucatan Balize, Guatemala, Nicaragua and Southern Mexico, the race retreating before the glaciers found a genial resting place.

Almost coincident with the beginning of the retreat of the ice which marked the conclusion of the last glacial epoch, viz.: at the lapse of 160,000 years, the primitive animal man began to develop into the intellectual being man. Dr. Croll in his admirable work "Climate and Time," and James Geikei in his "Great Ice Age," learnedly and conclusively discuss these physical occurrences, and demonstrate the probability of the movements herein ascribed to climate change. The theater of this development of human intellect was the most advantageous that could be conceived, and science and art. Great cities were built, of such magnificence and extent that even in our day of great achievements their descriptions seem fabulous—Copan, Palenque and Uxmal, as they are called, yet remain in stupendous ruins. But buried in the, to us, impenetrable depths of the tropical forests of Central America there are cities whose wonders far transcend the amazing grandeur of the known localities. More than one of these cities covered over a hundred square miles, and were closely built of hewn stone; the houses were vast in height and area, decorated with frieze and cornice, balustrade and balcony, post and pillar, all covered with exquisite carving. Reservoirs and aqueducts were constructed of extent, capacity and engineering excellence to far surpass anything our race has accomplished or even dreamed of. For fifty thousand years that American civilization grew and flourished, when another climatic change halted its progress and induced its decay and extinction.

The diminishing eccentricity of the earth's orbit, and the occurrence of the Northern summer solstice in perihelion, at the point of minimum eccentricity, the retreat of the northern glacier, and the return of the Gulf Stream to its northern course, rendered the equatorial zone constantly hotter and hotter, until a degree of heat was reached in the region of the now deserted cities, which no animal life, except that of a salamander, could endure [illegible] heat the animal man, who had retreated southward before the glacier, began his last march northward. His footsteps marked with certain and unmistakable traces, and lasted for the period of 10,000 years. His retreat was slow. Through Southern and Middle Mexico he built and occupied great cities; constantly, however, building smaller, slighter and less substantial structures. The dwindling of his houses, the fading away of decoration, and the breaking up of his social autonomy, are evident, and mark the gradually increasing heat, and the return of moan from a state of civilization to that of a nomad. In Texas he had become a mound-builder, and through that State and Arkansas and Missouri the works of his hands are numbered by millions.

It is evident, too, that he built for shelter, and not for defense, until he came to Ohio, Illinois and Wisconsin. There he met an enemy and threw up defenses, and there he was finally overcome and almost exterminated by the Tartar progenitor of the red Indian. In this course we trace the decay of civilization and the tendency to a primitive state, which being allowed to continue would have put the aborigines back in the central northern region of the continent in almost the same state as that in which they left it a quarter of a million years ago. In this light is Macauley's New Zealander "sitting on a broken arch of London Bridge and sketching the ruins of St. Paul's," a very highly colored fancy?

There can be no doubt of this precedence of the mound-building. The idea that the mound builders went south and erected the deserted cities of the South, is merely an off-shoot of the Adamic theory, but it has insuperable objections in its way. One of these is the consideration that the mounds of Texas, Missouri and Arkansas are dilapidated and almost extinct, while those of the Northern stretch of country are sharp, clean and well defined. Now the climate of Texas, since the mound-building age, has been drier and more equable than that of Ohio, and if the Texan mounds were last built they would be less broken and effaced than those standing under the extremes of heat and cold and under the frequent rainstorms of the lake region. But we know almost to a certainty that the mound-builders were met with human tide that followed the earlier retreating Asiatic glacier northward, crossed to the northwest coast of America, traversed British Columbia, Nevada, Montana, Dakota and Minnesota, in all of which territory are traces of its progress, and fell upon the mound-builder just where the best defined remains are found. The conflict between the hardy man coming down from the North and the feeble and dengenerate man coming up from the South could have but one conclusion—the defeat and obliteration of the weaker.

The following correspondence which we have been permitted to copy, explains itself:

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Jan. 26, 1880.

My Dear Sir:—I notice a resolution of the Alumni Association requesting each Alumnus of the University to pay $1, to bear the expenses of preparing sketches, &c., &c. Enclosed you will find my contribution.

Our class graduated in 1818, and I believe Bishop Green, Edward J. Mallett and myself are the only survivors of the classes of an earlier date. I presume none are living.

With the highest esteem,
I am truly yours,
R. H. MORRISON.

COL. W. L. SAUNDERS,
Raleigh, North Carolina.

RALEIGH, Jan. 29, 1880.

Dear Sir:—Your note of the 26th instant, enclosing one dollar under a recent resolution of the University Alumni Association, came duly to hand, and we acknowledge its receipt. I trust you will permit me, though personally unknown to you, to thank you for the promptness of your response to the resolution of the Association, for coming from an Alumnus at once so venerable and so distinguished as yourself, its effect upon other Alumni must be felt speedily and beneficially.

I have, sir, the honor to be,
Very respectfully,
W. L. SAUNDERS,
Sec. and Treas. of Alumni Association.
To REV. DR. MORRISON.

The venerable Dr. Munson is doubtless correct in supposing that there is now no living graduate of an older date than himself. Indeed before his graduation there had been only twenty classes at the University, and only one hundred and sixty-three graduates. In the class which the distinguished and aged donor still affectionately calls "our class" there were fourteen members and among them names that North Carolina will not willingly let die. Among them were Robert Donaldson, one of the most prominent manufacturers and merchants of fifty years ago; General Thomas J. Green, distinguished in the Texan war and father of Colonel Wharton J. Green; Rt. Rev. W. M. Green, Bishop of Mississippi, Arthur J. Hill, of Pittsboro, Hamilton C. Jones, Supreme Court reporter and the most inimitable humorists of the day and father of Colonel H. C. Jones, of Charlotte, William D. Mosely, Governor of Florida, James K. Polk, President of the United States, and William Hugh Waddell lately deceased.

We sincerely trust the example of Dr. Munson will be promptly followed by the thousands of junior alumni scattered everywhere over our broad land. It is certainly worthy of all imitation, as well in the manner as in the matter of it.

THE TUFT-HUNTERS.

HOW TOADYISM FLOURISHES AT THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

Some New Yorkers Who Would Like a Monarchy So They Could Get Handles to Their Names.

New York Star, Feb. 2.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—It has been said that the American people are a race of tuft-hunters and toadies to royalty. One is almost convinced that there is much truth in the saying after spending any length of time in Washington. Perhaps the adulators of prominent persons congregate mostly in this city. But I am told that in New York there is growing up a class of rich persons who are earnestly working and hoping for such a change in our mode of government that they may become the titled, as well as the self-styled, aristocracy of the land. A gentleman who was formerly a United States Senator related, a few days ago, an incident bearing out this report regarding the would-be nobility of the metropolis. He said that at a dinner party where were met a number of rich men, it was sincerely discussed as to whether all hands should not inaugurate a movement to secure a monarchial form of government that each of those present might have a dukedom. This class observe no cautious manner in declaring that they are better than other people, and in deprecating that in this country there is "no society" except that which "our set, you know," must choose to honor, and they pathetically tell how they must go to Europe to enjoy society. Levi Morton, whose whole nature runs to money lending, that he may make money, has become rich enough to buy his way into "our sets you know." He has come to Congress, to give dinners to men of prominence, He begged for Grant and got him for one spread. Then he had at his table men whose names, like that of Drexel, represented millions of money. It was an effort to have massive fortunes at that particular dinner. I heard this man greet a Southern member of Congress who, while a man of ability believes in the aristocracy ruling the land, and who once told me in an admiring way, that he thought "Senator ——— a model statesman," because he was "like the English statesmen. He follows the hounds in summer and comes to Washington for the winter season." The greeting between these members was about in this way.

Morton—Ah! General, glad to see you.

Southern Member—Glad to see you looking so well.

Morton—Ah, you did not go across this summer? No? I thought not, for I would have heard of you, you know.

He would heard of him, "you know," because they go across to get into society, and their society, of course, is so select that they would have heard of each other, no matter where they had been in all Europe. The country member comes to Washington and brings Mrs. Member and Miss Member to spend the winter in "Washington society." They start out, after the dressmaker and milliner is through with them, in a carriage called from a neighboring stable, with the top of the vehicle all thrown open, and make calls. Where do they first call? Why, at the Cabinet Ministers and the foreign legations. Are they acquainted with the latter? Not in the least, nor need they be, according to the idea they have of their "official" position. The result is that some day they find at their hotel or boarding-house the cards of all the big-wigs. How carefully and tenderly they keep those modest little pieces of cardboard, which have printed in simple style "Lady Thornton" and "Sir Edward Thornton, Minister Plenipotentiary and Envoy Extraordinary of her Britannic Majesty's Government." Into what an envious frame of mind these little cards will put Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Jones when they are displayed away off in the quiet home of the possessor when Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Jones call to learn how Mrs. Member and Miss Member enjoyed "Washington society."

Truly Mrs. Gilflory and Libby Dear are not much overdrawn. Of course, I do not mean this assertion to be sweeping, but it is the exception and not the rule where it is otherwise. I have often wondered what the Thorntons must think of the crowd that rushes into their acquaintance, for the Thorntons are singularly simple and unostentatious people. Because they have a coat of arms on their carriage they do not find it necessary to ride about in it continually. They do not dress in striking styles, but go upon the true principle that a well-dressed person is so attired that the costume attracts no attention whatever. Sir Edward Thornton's nobility is more in the man himself than in the title it bears. This distinction, however, cannot be seen by the tuft-hunters and toadies who flourish in "Washington society"—so-called.

While this class of people cover the surface of Washington society, yet there are, of course, many people of real cultivation and simple, unostentatious manners. But while there is a real society here, in which people of worth find companionship, it is not always conspicuous, and its members are not fond of exhibiting themselves and seeking the society of Europeans who are fortunate enough to have titles to their names. There is probably no city in the country where so many women of true worth can be at least heard of as in Washington. It is indeed.

The worst and wisest of this mighty state."

The Signal Service folks are about to add another benefit to the country in their weather bureau. Old Probabilities, in other words, is to make every man in his own prognosticar. A barometer, thermometer, wind gauge and what not, all in one, has been invented by Old Probabilities, which is to be put up in every Post Office in the country. These marvelous instruments will have dials which will show to the simplest mind the weather indications for days ahead. The system is figured down to the nicety of a thousand observations. In other words, a thousand observations have shown that the thermometer, barometer and wind gauge must be just so for a certain kind of weather. So the instrument showing on its dials that if the wind and atmosphere are at a particular stage, you will know that a thousand times heretofore the same indications meant such and such weather to come.

DAILY NEWS

GEO. C. JORDAN, Editor and Prop'r.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1880.

THE proposed addition of 20,000 men to the German standing army will make that body 430,000 strong. The annual increase in the revenue needed to provide for these men will be $4,000,000, and $7,000,000 will have to be given for their equipment. This armament of Germany will necessitate a similar increase in the armies of Russia, France and Austria. It is difficult to say when the climax will be reached.

THEY have great respect for Kaiser Wilhelm in Germany, and seem to still believe in the divine right and authority of kings. Any insult or outrage even to a picture of the Emperor is high treason, and punished as such. A wag called attention the other day to the apparent contradiction in the use of the Emperor's effigy on the postage stamps, which were blackened, battered and abused, and protested against this treatment of their sovereign. His complaint appears to have struck home, for the German postoffice department has suddenly abolished the use of a portrait of the Emperor on their stamps, and will hereafter use instead the Prussian eagle, which may be battered with impunity.

WE have had some expensive strikes in this country, but England is yet far ahead of us in this line. Thus the strike of the Clyde shipbuilders in Great Britain, a few years ago, cost them no less than $1,500,000, and that of the Durham miners $1,200,000. It is a noticeable fact that the strikers, although often defeated in their contests, generally accomplish their purpose in the end by their pertinacity. For instance, the masons and others engaged in the house-building trades in London started some years ago to fight for a half holiday on Saturday. They struck for it and were defeated; struck again only to be beaten; but, at last, after a two years' lock-out, and at a cost of $250,000, they were victorious and secured their holiday, which is now enjoyed by 100,000 working men in London, and is worth $2,800,000 a year to them.

A FORMIDABLE array of counsel for an accused person sometimes does him more harm than good. So do long speeches in his behalf. In Norfolk county, Virginia, once, a fellow was indicted for some offence or other, and the commonwealth's attorney seeing no case against him, made no comments or argument whatever. Not so with the prisoner's lawyers, who seized the opportunity to spread themselves and made the most of it. Much to the surprise of everybody but the jury the man was found guilty. The prosecuting attorney afterward asked the foreman how the jurors came to bring in such a verdict. The foreman replied: "Well, 'Squire"—they call lawyers 'Squires in that part of the country—"you see, you didn't say anything, but the fellow went and hired half-a-dozen lawyers to holler for him three or four hours in the court house, and we made sure he must be guilty anyhow!"

THE work on the sewerage system of Memphis is under the charge of Colonel George E. Waring, an eminent New York sanitarian and engineer. The work of excavating the main sewer was begun some days ago with public ceremonies, and some five hundred men are now engaged at this work. Gangs of men are now employed at the same time in every ward of the city digging the trenches or branch sewers. The total length of the sewers is estimated at fifty miles and all of the work on them will be completed, it is thought, by the middle of May. As for Bayou Gayoso, which enjoys the reputation, whether deservedly or not it is impossible to say, of having developed and spread the fever in previous years, it will be thoroughly attended to. A drain will be erected at its mouth, so as to reclaim the offensive bayou and keep within its banks a pure and fresh water supply all the year round.

THERE will be rejoicing in California, and among all who are interested commercially or otherwise in the Pacific coast, that the Pacific Mail Steamship Company has untied itself from the Union and Central Pacific Railroads, and intends to pursue the San Francisco trade on true competitive principles. The combination which has existed between these corporations by land and sea has been exceedingly oppressive to trade and obstructive of travel. It was an unnatural one, and it is believed it would not have been entered into by the Pacific Mail Company (to whom it has been prejudicial) had it felt itself as strong as now. The managers of the Central Pacific Railroad Company, taking advantage of the trouble which overtook the Pacific Mail Company, made a great show of organizing an opposition steamship company in the Asiatic trade, and apparently "bull-dozed" the Pacific Mail into a combination on freights and fares.

Fatal Explosion in Pitt.

Correspondence of the News.

Your correspondent learned this morning from Mr. H. J. Whitehurst, of Pitt county, of a most distressing disaster which occurred near Falkland, Pitt county, on Friday morning, the 30th ultimo. The boiler attached to the steam saw mill belonging to Mr. Frank Atkinson was blown up, killing Mr Atkinson and the sawyer, Mr. Theophilus Young, instantly. Mr. Young was killed in his tracks, and Mr. Atkinson was blown through the shed, falling a distance of forty-seven yards from the boiler, and after falling the body bounced eight or ten feet further, going through a plank wall. The cause of the body bouncing to such a distance after falling is attributed to the tremendous size of the man, as his regular weight was two hundred and eighty-five pounds. Mr. Atkinson was a man of right much wealth, and highly respected in his community. He graduated at one of the Virginia colleges since the war. At the time of his death he was about thirty years of age. He leaves a wife and one child to mourn his untimely end.

Mr. Young was about 40 years of age, a man well thought of, and leaves a wife and three children, all of which have the deepest sympathy of the whole community in their sad bereavement.

On Saturday evening last, three negro women, Martha Hinton, Pink and Harriet Smith, were in the store of Messrs. Rountree, Barnes & Co., of this place, with the pretence of purchasing goods, but soon after they had left the store it was discovered that they had taken more than had been paid for. A party was sent out in search of the missing merchandise, six pieces of calico and checked goods, which was soon found in the possession of the three women. They were turned over to the chief of police, Mr. D. P. Christman, who took them up before T. C. Davis, Esq., Justice of the Peace, for trial. There being no evidence sufficient to convict Pink Smith, she was released, while Martha Hinton and Harriet Smith were bound over in a bond of one hundred dollars each for their appearance at February Court.

GENERAL SHERMAN ANGRY.

He Will Not Take Any Notice of the Charge Preferred by Boynton.

Special Dispatch to the Times.

WASHINGTON, February 1.—General Sherman, in a conversation regarding the charges and specifications filed with with the Secretary of War by General Boynton, of the Cincinnati Gazette, roundly denounced newspapers and newspaper men as a class, and said that if Boynton would get any commissioned officer to indorse his charges he would call for a court. The inference from Sherman's words was that without such indorsement he would not ask for a court.

He has been examing the law and was apparently of the opinion that while it was competent for a civilian to prefer charges against an officer, yet before any notice could be taken of charges so preferred it would be necessary to secure the indorsement of a commissioned officer. He said he would like to meet Boynton in such an arena. He characterized Boynton's statements as false and used profane language to show his contempt of that gentleman. Sherman, it is evident, will not take any notice of the charges. Boynton does not say what he will do in the event of the Secretary's disregard of his specifications.

A Down-town Merchant.

Having passed several sleepless nights, disturbed by the agonies and cries of a suffering child, and becoming convinced that Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup was just the article needed, procured a supply for the child. On reaching home and acquainting his wife with what he had done, she refused to have it administered to the child, as she was strongly in favor of Homeopathy. That night the child passed in suffering, and the parents without sleep. Returning home the day following, the father found the baby still worse; and while contemplating another sleepless night, the mother stepped from the room to attend to some domestic duties, and left the father with the child. During her absence he administered a portion of the Soothing Syrup to the baby, and said nothing. That night all hands slept well, and the little fellow awoke in the morning bright and happy. The mother was delighted with the sudden and wonderful change, and although at first offended at the deception practiced upon her, has continued to use the Syrup, and suffering crying babies and restless nights have disappeared. A single trial of the Syrup never yet failed to relieve the baby, and overcome the prejudices of the mother. Sold by all Druggists at 25 cents a bottle.

Cuticura

BLOOD AND SKIN HUMORS,

The Scourge of Mankind. Old Methods of Treatment and Remedies a Failure.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the Great Blood Purifier and Liver Stimulant, is the most searching, cleansing, and purifying agent of this country. It may be detected in the saliva, sweat, milk, blood, and urine in forty minutes after taking the first dose, showing that it has entered the circulation and been carried to every part of the system. It forever eradicates the virus of Syphilis, Scrofula, Cancer, and Canker, those terrible blood poisons that rot out the machinery of life, filling the body with foul corruptions. Taken internally in conjunction with the external application of CUTICURA, the Great Skin Cure, it speedily cures Scrofulous Ulcers and Old Sores, Salt Rheum, Psoriasis, Tetter, Ringworm Scald Head, Dandruff, and all Itching and Scaly Diseases of the Skin and Scalp.

ECZEMA ON THE SCALP.

BREAST AND LIMBS CURED.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen—I cannot refrain from adding my debt of gratitude to you for having placed within my reach the wonderful CUTICURA REMEDIES, which have rendered unnecessary all further experiment of physicians, and in a remarkably short space of time have rid me of a loathsome disease. I dispensed with all physicians two years ago believing they did me no good. The CUTICURA has stopped this unsatisfactory expense—even if it were necessary and I had the courage any longer to follow their advice—and brought the long-looked-for cure and happiness.

I have been afflicted with Eczema or Salt Rheum on my scalp, breast, and limbs for five years, during which time I have been under the treatment of physicians, or at mineral springs, or taking some kind of medicine. I have been treated by Drs ——— of ———, and visited sulphur springs and taken numbers of patent medicines, all without the faintest approach to a cure.

April 1st last, I began the use of CUTICURA, which was immediately successful in my case, entirely curing me. I have now had a clean scalp for 15 years until the use of CUTICURA entirely healed it and left it clean and healthy. The other parts of my body were affected in a more aggravated form, but are now completely healed. I believe myself completely cured. I shall continue the CUTICURA RESOLVENT as directed, for its wonderful action on the stomach and bowels and cooling influence on the blood. It will afford me pleasure, as I have done in many cases, to urge the afflicted to use these wonderful remedies.

Yours, etc.
STEPHEN CROWELL.
NEW BEDFORD, Sept. 30, 1878.

A RUNNING SORE

CURED IN ONE WEEK.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER:—Some three or four weeks ago I ordered a box of CUTICURA for a bad case of Salt Rheum. The back of one of my wife's hands was a running sore. In one week from the day it arrived her hand was well and has remained so up to to-day. E. P. DAGGETT.
MILFORD, ME., June 10, 1878.
NOTE.—Reader, don't you think these cures remarkable?

CUTICURA SOAP,

MEDICINAL AND TOILET,

is prepared from CUTICURA in a modified form, and is positively indispensable in the treatment of Skin and Scalp Diseases. We recommend it for the preservation of the skins of infants, for gentlemen who shave and are troubled with tender faces, for those who desire a clean and wholesome Skin and Scalp, and for all purposes of the toilet, bath and nursery. Its delicate and refreshing fragrance equals or surpasses the finest Parisian Soaps.

The CUTICURA REMEDIES are prepared by WEEKS & POTTER, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington street, Boston, and are for sale by all Druggists. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; three cakes, 75 cents.

A Rare Chance for Investment.

Wishing to give my whole attention to the lumber trade, in which I am about to engage on a larger scale than ever before, I offer for sale on terms to suit the times the following valuable property in Cary:

I.

MY PLUG TOBACCO FACTORY, in a BRICK building 50x80 feet, 3 stories high, the lower story being two large storerooms. The Tobacco Machinery is new and has a capacity of manufacturing 1,000 lbs. per day. The factory has been worked a year, and a good beginning for a trade has been made. II.

GRAIN MILLS,

in a 3 story brick building, 28x40 feet. Two Wheat Mills and one Corn Mill, new and complete with a capacity for grinding 100 bushels of wheat and 100 bushels of corn a day, and can compete in quality of flour with any mills in the State. The mills have had a very large local patronage during the past year. They are driven by a 60 HORSE POWER STEAM ENGINE, improved, of the make of Talbott & Sons, Richmond.

Attached to the engine is also a 60 Saw COTTON GIN and power press, at a safe distance (about 100 feet) in a different lot. The engine has a brick smoke-stack 60 feet high, making the danger from fire the least possible and the rate of insurance very low.

III.

Several well built and handsome residences, with lots and gardens of about 1 acre to each dwelling. They are wooden buildings, 2 stories high, with from 5 to 7 rooms each situated in desirable locations in the village.

Besides these, 4 one acre lots, with cottage buildings of 2 rooms.

An Important Personal Item.

Charles S. Prentice, of Toledo, O., went to Paris and thence to England to be treated for Bright's disease, and after the best physicians of both countries had done what they could for him gave up in despair and returned to America to die. Here he received further treatment from other skillful physicians without benefit, and while "listlessly lingering in pain and anguish," he says, heard of the Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, took it, and was completely cured in a few weeks. He gives circumstantial details of his painful experience and astonishing cure, in a long letter to H. H. Warner & Co., which will be forwarded on application.

What Physicians at Home and Abroad Think of the Seven Springs Iron and Alum Mass.

In the treatment of Dyspepsia, Chlorosis, Anæmia, Nervous and Muscular Debility, Nervous and Sick Headache, Dysmenorrhœa, Menorrhagia, Amenorrhœa, diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder and such like organic or functional disturbances, I know of no remedy upon which I can rely with more certainty of satisfactory results than the "Seven Springs Mass."

W. F BARR, M. D.,
Abingdon, Va.

I have found no one single remedy to yield such satisfactory results as the "Seven Springs Mass." In the treatment of Dyspepsia, Chronic Diarrhœa, Anamia, Chlorosis, and for Chronic Eczema, I find it invaluable, associated with appropriate topical treatment.

GEO. T. HARRISON, M. D.,
New York City.

From my experience with the "Iron and Alum Mass," I believe it will prove the best medicine we have in use, for chronic diseases.

G. M. D. PATTERSON, M. D.,
Eaglewood, Texas.

For Dyspepsia, Ulcerations of the Throat, Inflammation of the Neck of the Bladder, Leucorrhœa, etc., the "Seven Springs Mass" seems to act with almost specific effect.

E. O. GRIGSBY,
DeView, Ark.

We could extend this list into the thousands with such testimonials from physicians from every State in the Union, but these are sufficient to indicate its application. The reputation of the remedy is too widely known to waste words upon its character. In ordering from druggists always mention Seven Springs Mass. Price $1 per package or six for $5, sent by mail, postpaid.

THE NEW FRYER.

This useful invention meets a long-felt need for a more convenient method of removing Oysters, Potatoes, and other fried food, with greater quickness, and all at once, from the boiling fat in which they have been cooked, and allowing the fat to drain from them while they remain over the fire; thereby getting rid more certainly of the superfluous grease, the objection so often made of the unhealthiness of food cooked in the ordinary frying-pan is done away with.

By detaching the supporter, you have for omelettes and other things for which a drainer is not required, a deeper and better quality of frying-pan than has heretofore been made.
